

Water Reed

Scientific Name: Phragmites australis

Features:

1. These plants look like grasses with broad leaves having feather-like flowers and smooth stems.
2. The dried stems have multiple uses as they are used for thatching and for preparing materials of construction.